

Story-Mapping

Events	Innovation
The story begins at the end and is told in flashback. The main character was afraid of something.
The main character found something and decided to keep it a secret.
The thing was unusual in some way that hinted it might be from outer space.
The main character tried to find out more about the “thing”.
Something went wrong and the “thing” posed some sort of threat to the planet.
The story ends on a cliff-hanger leaving the reader to wonder what could happen next.	